

Ort Braude Technological College (VET) is situated in the middle of the Galilee in the northern part of Israel. The diverse population of the Galilee is reflected in the student variety, consisting of Druze, Muslims, Christians, Cherchez and Jews. Our vocational training provides students with a Diploma of Practical Engineers in one of the following subjects: Architecture, Electronics, Electricity, Biotechnology, Software, Mechatronic and Industrial Management (more about us in the document attached).

We are looking for Capacity Building partners in the fields of:

- "On job training" - integration of on job training as an effective tool for learning improvement.
- Developing learning skills and placement qualifications.
- Multicultural Women empowerment in technology.

We are looking for partners who deal with similar challenges of Inclusion and employability, and would be willing to cooperate on either of the topics above. Our vision is to create collaboration and an international learning community to develop and promote these topics. Together we can create and develop new and innovative tools that will help students, lecturers, and graduates in VET colleges.
