Summary

This school year saw the completion of the project "Birds have to fly!" which was focused on the enrichment of creativity, cooperation, and knowledge throughout "birds". Thus, these years will be remembered as a bright, emotional, creative, communication, and knowledge-oriented unique Erasmus+ project years by many students and teachers of partnership schools!

It is a pleasure for me that all the works and creative activities proposed in the project application, the additional local school creative tasks and exhibitions were completed. We were hopeful, focused on the adventure, stepped out of our comfort zone, staged play lets, learned how to search for information and make more use of IT tools. For example, pupils from each partner school wrote the stories in their mother tongue and in English with sequels and illustrations, the following year when they met in the mobility, their stories, using the drama method, were performed in a collaborative process between the participants. Pupils learned two dances related to the theme of birds, it was interesting to see the different performances. Taking part in project work encouraged pupils to be active and built their self-confidence.

The theme of birds was widely sung in songs for every nation. Pupils from each partnership school sang the songs in their mother tongue, then sent their video with the performance of the song; the pupils in other partnership schools could learn it. Moreover, in one of the many meetings on the ZOOM platform, the pupils sang all the songs together in four languages in what turned out to be a positive and emotional concert. This school year, when European countries became "healthier", it was possible to carry out mobility.

During the project, we have designed, crafted, drawn and painted birds in a variety of techniques, the works were regularly exhibited in the Erasmus+ project corner, on the information boards, where they could be seen by the pupils, teachers, school visitors. The exhibitions were documented so that as many people as possible could see what was done, both on the Erasmus+ eTwinning website, on the School's website, and in the local newspapers. There was also bird watching in nature, bird feeders were placed, and pupils had the opportunity to gain more knowledge about bird life. Participants learnt more about the national birds of the partner countries by observing them and listening to ornithologist's stories.

In the previous year, going to the other countries was impossible, we organized regular meetings on the ZOOM platform. One of the most memorable events was a visit to birds, where each partnership school had 10 questions on
